a note from the CEO

After the busy bustle of the holiday season those of us in the grocery business enter January with a fresh outlook. As much fun as it is to stock shelves with eggnog and sugar cookies, the work after New Year's Day is instead about looking ahead to a season of health and revitalization. We work with shoppers to help them achieve goals, get into good routines and stay healthy during the long cold winter. Shopping lists are now filled with things like "more greens" and "Game Day snacks". The energy of our customers boosts our own energy – it is one of the beautiful things about the co-op grocery store – the constant exchange of energy with team members and customers who love People's Food Co-op.

And we need that energetic boost. Working in this pandemic world is tough on people and tough on our business. We spend a lot of time solving supply-shortage issues, bobbing and weaving around covid illnesses, and developing policies which protect staff and maintain a comfortable shopping environment during a public health crisis.

I want to recognize the people who work at every level to feed our families and enrich lives in our community. Our team helps us stay strong and has rightfully earned the gratitude of the community. If you want to share your thanks with the team, please write to us at customerservice@pfc.coop.

We are looking at 2022 with a certain amount of experience in how to support our staff through these challenging times, and with strategies to keep PFC being the most important place for you to spend your food dollars. This year you will find more low-cost options which fit your budget and bring delicious healthy foods to your household. We'll also be launching a new online shopping platform this winter, adding convenience and safety for you. I think you're going to love the mobile app, even if you don't shop online. With the PFC mobile app, you'll know exactly what's on sale and what you're going to find at our soup bar (among many other things!)

People's Food Co-op will continue prioritizing high-quality products and a friendly shopping experience. We will focus on the diversification of ownership in the food supply chain, raising people up and improving our economy through local connections. We will continue to make investments in our stores and in the people who work here, striving to build a more sustainable community by treating all people with kindness and fairness.

We want to hear from you. What do you think the co-op can be in 2022? How can we better serve your needs this year? Please write to me at liz.haywood@pfc.coop; I look forward to talking with you.

Sno Pac

produce & more!

Supplier to PFC since the 1980's
Location: Caledonia, Minnesota
22 miles from PFC—La Crosse
75 miles from PFC—Rochester

Sno Pac supplies People's Food Co-op with delicious berries, corn, peas, edamame, and many other vegetables, year-round.

Sno Pac of Caledonia, Minnesota has been a People's Food Co-op supplier since the early days of the La Crosse co-op. Sno Pac was founded back in 1943 by J.P. Gengler, and now the fourth generation of Genglers continues to supply organic, frozen fruits and vegetables to PFC shoppers. Pete Gengler, the current CEO (and grandson of Sno Pac's founder J.P. Gengler), remembers driving Sno Pac deliveries to People's when the La Crosse store was in the old Bruha's Grocery building on Adams Street.

About 100 years ago, J.P. Gengler had a lumber business in the Caledonia area. In the winter, they'd cut ice from a spring-fed lake and ship it south in the summer. J.P.'s son, Leonard, took advantage of the invention of refrigeration and built a locker plant where local farmers, including Leonard, could store their food.

Leonard Gengler grew strawberries, gooseberries, and vegetables, which he processed and froze. Leonard's son, Pete Gengler, remembers that the family had 20 acres of strawberries when he was a child. "I was picking strawberries when I was five. I made $11 one summer day—really good money when you're five years old."

Sno Pac has always been organic. "In the 1940s," Pete says, "when all the chemicals started showing up in farming, my father decided not to use them.

He didn't think it was a good idea. As soon as the chemicals started being used, people started having trouble with them—sensitivities and allergies—so my father had customers right away. He was shipping all over the country—special orders to people with allergies."

The company now has 3,000 acres in organic production and works with another 50 local organic farmers supplying frozen organic produce to retailers from Maine to California. Despite the national growth in sales, Sno Pac remains a locally owned Southeast Minnesota outfit, supplied by local farms. "The majority of the farms we work with are within 20 miles [of Caledonia]," Pete notes. Sno Pac supplies People's Food Co-op with delicious berries, corn, peas, edamame, and many other vegetables, year-round. A big plus is that the packaging Sno Pac uses is made of recyclable material. You can rinse the package and recycle it (#4 - accepted in La Crosse county) when you're done. Check your local municipality's recycling requirements.

Like all of PFC's local suppliers, Sno Pac has had issues: extreme rain events and unpredictable weather brought about by our changing climate, but Gengler expects SnoPac to still be farming 100 years from now—even if there isn't any more ice to pull out of the lakes.

Sensational Berry Smoothies

Blending is believing! These splendid smoothies are bursting with berry goodness.

The smoothie — a drinkable breakfast, snack, or workout drink — is one of the easiest culinary creations to make at home.

A variation on the kinds of fruity drinks made in tropical countries for years, it was christened “smoothie” in the 1960s. As it grew to include healthy add-ins, boosting it from a snack to a meal, the smoothie began to inch into the healthy mainstream. Suddenly, smoothies were everywhere!

Check out these sensational berry smoothies as a starting point. Each one is simple and completely delicious.

Soups & Stews

Three Sisters Soup

Serves 8 to 10. Prep time: 1 hour, 10 minutes to 2 hours, 10 minutes.

- 2 pounds of your favorite winter squash (butternut, acorn, kabocha)
- 2 to 3 tablespoons olive oil
- 1 yellow onion, diced
- 1/4 cup garlic, chopped
- 2 quarts vegetable stock or water
- 1/2 cup white wine
- 2 teaspoons dried thyme
- 1 large bay leaf
- 1 pound fresh or frozen corn kernels
- 2 15.5-ounce cans cannellini beans, drained
- 1/2 bunch green onions, sliced
- Salt and pepper to taste

1. Preheat the oven to 350°F. Halve the squash and scoop out the seeds. Place the squash halves skin-side down on a lightly oiled baking sheet, and then roast until cooked through and soft, anywhere from 30 to 90 minutes. (Approximate cooking times: acorn squash, 30 to 45 minutes; kabocha squash, 40 to 50 minutes; butternut squash, 60 to 90 minutes.) Remove from the oven and allow to cool.
2. Scoop the flesh of the squash into a large bowl, saving any liquid. Puree the cooled squash with a blender or food processor, adding some of the reserved liquid if needed.
3. In a large stockpot, heat the oil over medium heat and sauté the onions until they begin to brown. Add the garlic and cook, stirring often, until the garlic turns light brown in color.
4. Add the stock or water, wine, thyme, bay leaf and pureed squash and bring to a simmer. Stir in the remaining ingredients and simmer for 15 to 20 minutes. Taste and adjust seasoning as needed.

The Three Sisters is an ancient Native American technique for growing corn, squash and beans together in a way that builds on the strengths of each individual plant and enables them to nurture one another. Cooked together, these ingredients make a nutritious soup that celebrates the harvest season.

Red Lentil Stew with Kale

Serves: 4. Prep time: 45 minutes; 20 minutes active.

- 1 cup red lentils
 - 4 cups water
 - 2 cups cauliflower, chopped
 - 1 small red bell pepper, chopped
 - 1/2 teaspoon salt
 - 1 bunch kale, stems and leaves, chopped
 - 1 tablespoon ghee or coconut oil
 - 1 large onion, chopped
 - 1 tablespoon fresh ginger, chopped
 - 1 teaspoon black mustard seeds
 - 1 teaspoon cumin seeds
 - 1 large jalapeño, seeded and chopped
 - 1/2 teaspoon ground turmeric
1. Rinse the lentils, then put in a pot with the water, cauliflower, red bell pepper and salt. Place over medium-high heat and bring to a boil, then reduce the heat to low, place a lid on the pot, slightly ajar, and cook, stirring occasionally, for about 20 minutes. Stir in the kale and cook for about 10 minutes longer, until the lentils are soft and falling apart.
 2. While the lentils cook, drizzle the ghee or oil in a large sauté pan and place over medium-high heat. Add the onion, ginger, mustard seeds and cumin seeds and sauté until they start to sizzle, then reduce the heat to medium-low and stir occasionally. Add the jalapeño and turmeric and stir for a few minutes before stirring into the lentils.
 3. Add the sauté to the cooked lentils and let simmer for 5 minutes to meld the flavors.

Wine, oh Wine

Karl Erie - Rochester Wine, Beer, and Spirits

Excelsior Cabernet Sauvignon

It is a full-bodied red from Robertson South Africa. Spicy notes of whole coriander and green peppercorn dance atop fruity tones of black plum and berry fruits on the nose of this red wine. The palate offers more astringent and gripping black fruit-skin flavors that carry through the dry, medium-length finish. Notes of char and sweet smoke make this wine an ideal pairing for red meats, especially anything grilled, as well as salty, nutty aged cheeses.

Torresella Pinot Grigio

An Italian white, it has aromas of citrus and cut pear, and delicate florals. It is a dry white with a straw yellow hue. It is elegant and well balanced, with a crisp clean finish. It is excellent as an aperitif, but also goes well with young cheeses, shellfish and sushi, and poultry and seafood-based pasta dishes.

Piazza Grande Sparkling Lambrusco

This is not your grandma's Lambrusco! This Brut (dry!) style, fuchsia-colored sparkling hails from the Emilia-Romagna region, home of Balsamic, Parmesan, and Ferrari! Awesome pairings would be any of the Nieman Ranch salamis, but for real, this wine is great with any and all food. And it makes a stupendous brunch companion.

Makayla Chandler - La Crosse Wine, Beer, and Spirits

Organic Pizzolato Moscato Spumante Dolce

A balanced and floral Moscato that is sure to please! Aromas of honeysuckle, ripe apricot, and angel food cake with a round, vibrant, sweet medium-to-full body and a smooth, refreshing, medium-length peach nectar, sweet apple, orange marmalade, and honey finish with no oak flavor. Pairs well with spicy dishes, desserts, and charcuterie boards.

Cote des Roses Pinot Noir

This wine reveals aromas of fresh fruit such as Morello cherry, wild raspberry and spices. On the palate the full texture is velvety with silky tannins, and an elegant, well balanced finish. Pair this wine with charcuterie boards, poultry and pork, and roasted vegetables.

Organic and Vegan Cherries and Rainbows Red Blend

Drinkable and refreshing, but with plenty of punch, Cherries & Rainbows hails from the South of France from an eco-friendly winery. A Grenache/Syrah/Mourvèdre that's brought up in concrete tanks with no sulfur added, it has energetic fruit, herb, and forest floor notes. Pair this wine with salmon, mahi-mahi, steak, and chocolate.

a note from the Board

Welcome to year 2022! While on a personal note I am excited about the days gradually getting longer so we can spend more time outside, the board is also busy planning for the year ahead! Let's take a moment and reflect on what we have accomplished and what we want to achieve in the months to come.

First, we are glad to welcome back Andrea and Verna for another term on the board, and welcome Lana and Meghann as our newest board members. We welcome the diverse perspectives that those 4 elected board members will bring!

The Nomination, Election and Orientation committee had been working on strengthening the onboarding program, and we hope to provide our newest members with the information they need as fast as possible. One thing that I have personally enjoyed since joining the board in 2021 is the countless opportunities for continuously development offered through various education partners.

Secondly, the owners engagement committee has analyzed the responses to the survey sent last year, and identified an overall desire from our co-owners to be more engaged with classes, discussions, etc. Connecting with like-minded individuals passionate about healthy eating and sustaining our local economy was definitely a key motivator for me to join the co-op and ultimately the board, and we hope to organize more opportunities for connection with our co-owners in 2022. Stay tuned for more information on those events!

As always, if you have specific ideas or simply would like to get more involved, please feel free to connect with us at board@pfc.coop.
